2023 EDITION

Tile
Giant

Larger than life

When it comes to size, 2023 is all about the new XXL trend. Tiles are getting bigger as we get braver and more adventurous with our design choices. Stylish large format tiles are perfect for open plan living areas. They deliver a premium high-end look with fewer grout lines and create the illusion of more space by running seamlessly throughout the home.

Colourful pastels

Softly does it. The calming trend of subtle, muted colours can bring an elegant, romantic feel to home décor. Mixing and matching complementary pastel blends of blush pink, sky blue, mellow green or powdery beige will soften and add warmth to interior settings, creating a soothing and relaxing space.

Modern Mediterranean

Walls and floors have never looked so good. Create a touch of Mediterranean flavour with a modern twist by combining a calming pastel colour palette with whites and earth tones. Striking geometric patterns and textures allow you to unleash your inner designer and make a unique statement in any kitchen, bathroom or hallway.

Soft neutrals

Timeless elegance... a simple, neutral colour palette never goes out of fashion. Soft, airy shades of white and beige, mixed with light woods, wicker and rattan accessories help to bounce light around a room and create bright spaces that ooze style and sophistication. Create a touch of spa luxury in your own home.

Opulence

The ultra-glamorous, opulent trend continues into 2023, bringing luxurious touches into the home for a high end look and feel: Think extravagant styling and a sense that no expense has been spared. Geometric shapes and monochrome design fuse with lavish gold or copper detailing and rich marble finishes for a swoon-worthy interior.

Tactile space

Whether bold or subtle, textured tiles and decorative finishes are on-trend for 2023. They can be used to make an eye-catching feature wall by adding texture, depth and dimension; or create a sense of movement across a room with textured shapes, waves and patterns. Add even more interest by contrasting neutral shades with dark wood furnishings.

Biophilic

Green, green, green. Biophilic is still going strong, as we search for a closer connection to nature in our homes. Surrounding yourself with relaxing green tones and tropical themes can help you tap into the natural environment and enjoy the soothing properties that this sense of connectivity brings. Choose from soft muted greens to dark, deep emeralds.

Barkitecture

This popular trend is set to continue as we re-design areas of our home specifically for our four-legged friends. Whether it's a luxury dog-friendly den, a dedicated kitchen space, or a dog shower in the utility room – ideal for cleaning muddy pups after a long walk – practical tiles and feature flooring tick all the boxes for happy owners and pets alike.

Faux bois

Real or false? Wood effect flooring has many practical advantages over the real wood alternative and continues to be a popular trend. We love its durability, low maintenance and easy-cleaning, and it looks amazing too. Choose from a wide range of different layouts and shades for an authentic feel that delivers a warm, homely, calming ambience and feel.

Concrete chic

The idea of a faux industrial, concrete-style interior may seem intimidating, but it can create a real wow factor, especially in an open-plan living space. To complete the relaxed, laid-back vibe, use cool neutral grey tones with edgy, minimalistic furnishings. And, for the full effect, accessorise with the '2023 Colour of the Year' - digital lavender.
